DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on October 28, 2008 has been entered. Applicant's amendment necessitated following restriction requirement presented in this Office Action. It is noted that restriction requirement can be made at any time before final action when the distinctness and independence of the invention is clear (MPEP 811).

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-40, drawn to a composition and a method for application to human skin to improve the appearance of the skin, comprising:
 - (a) Retinyl Palmitate Polypeptide;
 - (b) Ascorbylmethylsilanol Pectinate;
 - (c) Tocopheryl Polypeptide;
 - (d) Cholecalciferol Polypeptide; and,
 - (e) Niacinamide Polypeptide, classified in class 424, subclass 401.

- II. Claim 41, drawn to a method of treating human skin, comprising the steps of:

Applying a sequence of compositions to the human skin to improve the appearance of the skin, comprising the steps of:

Applying a first composition the human skin, wherein said first composition comprises 2%-20% glycolic acid; applying a second composition to the human skin, wherein said second composition comprises 3-70% Ascorbylmethylsilanol Pectinate; and, applying a third composition to the human skin, wherein said third composition comprises a mixture of Retinyl Palmitate Polypeptide, Ascorbylmethylsilanol Pectinate, Tocopheryl Polypeptide, cholecalciferol Polypeptide, and Niacinamide Polypeptide, classified in class 514, subclasses 845 and 847.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions Group I and Group II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different designs, modes of operation, and effects (MPEP § 802.01 and § 806.06). In the instant case, the different inventions have different designs and mode of operation because the composition of Group I involves the employment of a single composition involving a single application, while the composition of Group II involves three different compositions requiring a three steps of application.

Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
